Words for Centering

Eric Busby and Brendan Nee, Union Seminary Students

At a time when Christians celebrate the promise of new life, transgender, nonbinary, and gender non-conforming (TNBGNC) Christians face an assault on their hope. How can we trust in the promise of the resurrection when the outlook is so bleak? Perhaps this is why TNBGNC Christians identify so strongly with Jesus Christ, whose transgressive move from death to life, defying expectations and social norms, stokes the flames of possibility. There is no boundary that seems so permanent and unbreachable as that between the living and the dead, and yet, Jesus crosses it. Through this lens, the resurrection is undeniably trans.

Flowering of the Cross

On this Easter Sunday, we celebrate Christ's resurrection by flowering the cross, which reminds us that God's love will always bloom forth even and especially in death. You are invited to come forward, take a flower and place it in the chicken wire of the cross as your participation in the continuing celebration that Christ is Risen! Christ is Risen, Indeed!

Christ is risen! Christ is risen indeed!

On this beautiful Easter morning, we are reminded of the ways Christ is risen and lives among us through the resurrection story.

We celebrate that Christ lives in our hearts and in our world – where no amount of violence or hatred can separate God from God's creation!

We celebrate that Christ lives in our bodies and in our neighbors – where no amount of fences can separate us from the love of God expressed in each of us.

We celebrate that Christ lives in our minds and in our empty tombs – where no amount of suffering can contain the hope and dreams of God our Creator!

So come, Congregational Church of Austin! Let us celebrate that Christ is risen and lives among us this Easter morning!

Reading of the Hebrew Scriptures

Isaiah 25:6-9

Pat Oakes

On this mountain the Lord of hosts will make for all peoples a feast of rich food, a feast of well-matured wines, of rich food filled with marrow, of well-matured wines strained clear. And God will destroy on this mountain the shroud that is cast over all peoples, the sheet that is spread over all nations; God will swallow up death for ever. Then the Lord God will wipe away the tears from all faces, and the disgrace of God's people God will take away from all the earth, for the Lord has spoken. It will be said on that day, Lo, this is our God; we have waited for God, so that God might save us. This is the Lord for whom we have waited; let us be glad and rejoice in God's salvation.

Reading of the Christian Scriptures

Mark 16: 1-8

Rev. Ginny

When the sabbath was over, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome bought spices, so that they might go and anoint him. And very early on the first day of the week, when the sun had risen, they went to the tomb. They had been saying to one another, 'Who will roll away the stone for us from the entrance to the tomb?' When they looked up, they saw that the stone, which was very large, had already been rolled back. As they entered the tomb, they saw a young man, dressed in a white robe, sitting on the right side; and they were alarmed. But he said to them, 'Do not be alarmed; you are looking for Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. He has been raised; he is not here. Look, there is the place they laid him. But go, tell his disciples and Peter that he is going ahead of you to Galilee; there you will see him, just as he told you.' So they went out and fled from the tomb, for terror and amazement had seized them; and they said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.

This is the spirit of God's love. Thanks be to God.
