Call to Worship

Reuel Nash

On this first Sunday of Lent, let us come into this sacred space where stillness meets solidarity, where fear gives way to faith.

We gather, weary from the anxiousness of our times—layoffs looming, restrictions tightening, identities questioned—yet we come seeking the presence of the Holy.

Jesus stood in the synagogue and proclaimed good news to the poor, release to the captives, sight to the blind, and freedom to the oppressed.

We stand with Christ, expanding the circle of belonging, widening the table of hospitality, proclaiming God's justice in the face of exclusion.

In this time of worship, we move from stillness to solidarity, from silence to prophetic witness, from fear to the liberating love of Christ.

Come, let us worship the Inclusive Christ, who models the way of God's justice, peace, and love for us.

Reading of the Hebrew Scriptures

Psalm 91

Reuel Nash

You who live in the shelter of the Most High, who abide in the shadow of the Almighty, will say to the Lord, "My refuge and my fortress; my God, in whom I trust." For God will deliver you from the snare of the fowler and from the deadly pestilence. God will cover you with pinions, and under God's wings you will find refuge; God's faithfulness is a shield and buckler. You will not fear the terror of the night, or the arrow that flies by day, or the pestilence that stalks in darkness, or the destruction that wastes at noonday.

A thousand may fall at your side, ten thousand at your right hand, but it will not come near you. You will only look with your eyes and see the punishment of the wicked. Because you have made the Lord your refuge, the Most High your dwelling place, no evil shall befall you, no scourge come near your tent. For God will command angels concerning you to guard you in all your ways. On their hands they will bear you up, so that you will not dash your foot against a stone. You will tread on the lion and the adder, the young lion and the serpent you will trample underfoot.

Those who love me, I will deliver; I will protect those who know my name. When they call to me, I will answer them; I will be with them in trouble, I will rescue them and honor them. With long life I will satisfy them and show them my salvation.

Reading of the Christian Scriptures Luke 4:16-21

Rev. Ginny

When he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, he went to the synagogue on the sabbath day, as was his custom. He stood up to read, and the scroll of the prophet Isaiah was given to him. He unrolled the scroll and found the place where it was written:

"The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because God has anointed me to bring good news to the poor. God has sent me to proclaim release to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to let the oppressed go free, to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor."

And he rolled up the scroll, gave it back to the attendant, and sat down. The eyes of all in the synagogue were fixed on him. Then he began to say to them, "Today this scripture has been fulfilled in your hearing."

This is the spirit of God's love. Thanks be to God.

God of justice, peace, and boundless love, in the stillness of our worship, we dedicate these gifts to the work of inclusion, compassion, and liberation. Bless what we offer, that through us, Christ’s vision of justice and love may take root in the world. Amen.
